

Emily Snider:

Emily Snider currently resides in Garland, TX with her four dogs (3 Border Collies & 1 Jack Russell Terrorist). She has always had a dog by her side, and has always enjoyed training dogs, but it took her Jack Russell Terrier to introduce her to agility in 2003. Emily has used agility to rehabilitate a rescue corgi/JRT mix (who started off so people and dog aggressive that most would run the other way), and turned her into a therapy dog that now runs agility with her new owner and junior handler in the Houston area.

Emily got her first border collie in 2006 and has since widely broadened her skill-set for training dogs, using what they love, to love what they do, training with purely positive methods. She has trialed her Jack Russell Terrier up to the Masters level, and competes at the highest level of USDAA with her two adult border collies. She and Josefin are currently gathering scores for both AKC (FCI) and USDAA (IFCS) World Teams. Her puppy, Felicity, is currently in training, and shows great promise for the sport of agility, and whatever else she and Emily choose to do together.
